

About

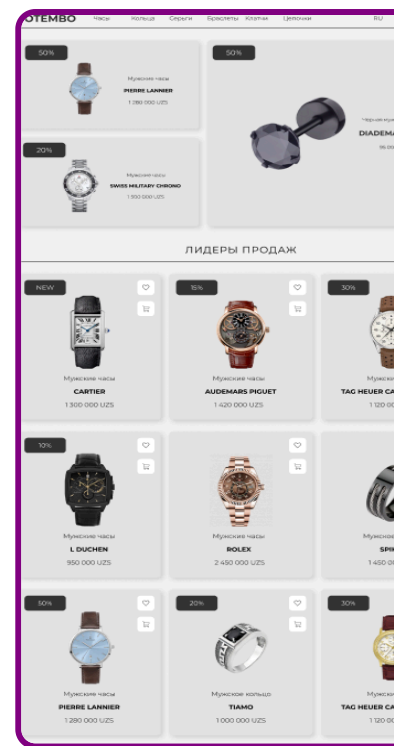

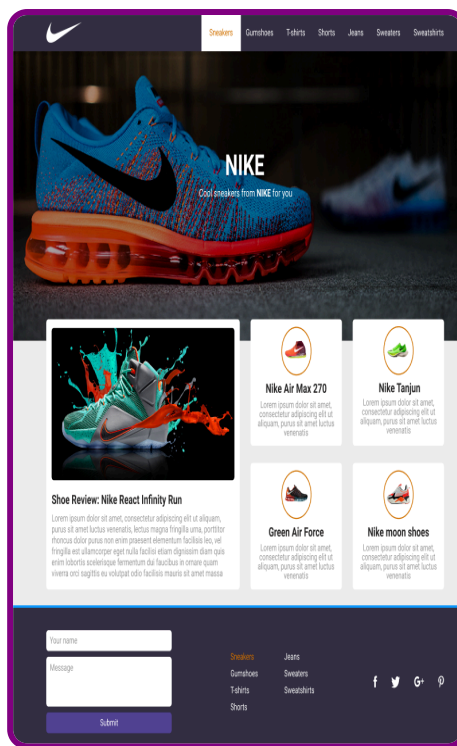

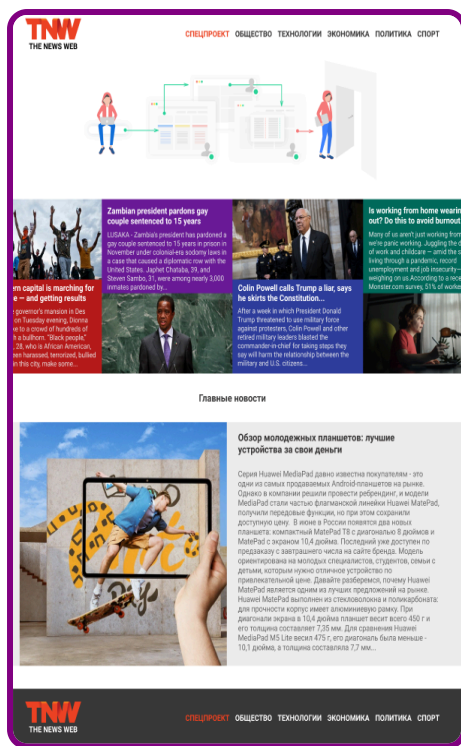

My name is Mirjalol, I am 20 years old, and I am currently a graduate of the frontend web programming course. I have come this far because of my strong interest in programming. After completing the course, I will continue to study in this field and also need to improve my English skills. Currently, I work as a service worker in a childrens product manufacturing company. My goal is to learn more about programming and build stronger and more useful websites. If you are reading this, you are looking at my portfolio. You can see what I've learned about myself and my interests in my portfolio. By the way, I am more interested in football than programming. I'm glad you got to know my portfolio.
